COUNCIL TO PLANT TREES ARBOR DAY

Will Go to River in Body and Take Necessary Equipment—
Citizens Wanting Trees May Get Them at Same Time—All
Asked to Co-operate.

The regular meeting of the town council was held Monday evening. Mayor Bell occupied the chair and the following councillors were present: Messrs. Keats, Learmonth, Werts, and Stone.

After reading and adoption of the minutes the water committee reported the result of their meeting with the managers of the different plants in town with reference to water conditions. As chairman of this committee, Councillor Stone stated that a most satisfactory meeting was held and that when conditions were explained, representative of the industries expressed a willingness to help out the situation by agreeing to a sale in the water rates from 5c to 8c per 1,000 gallons, as it was claimed that it was costing the latter figure to supply the water.

Mayor Bell wanted to know how the rate cost was arrived at. He said that considering the advantages and other concessions enjoyed by the industries, they should pay more for their water than the rate mentioned in the committee's report. He thought as fifteen or twenty cents was not too much, but it would be at least 10c. The chairman of the water committee said that at arriving at the cost of supplying water he took the figures of last year's water committee, the chairman of which had taken a great interest in that department and was well posted in its details. Other members of the present committee were on last year's committee when the figure was arrived at. That the chairman also pointed out that the industries claimed to have agreements with the town for certain rates for both water and gas and that these rates had been advertised all over the country as an inducement for industries to locate here. For that reason he thought the council should not make too big an increase all at once.

Councillors Werts and Keats thought the industries would not object to a ten cent rate. Councillor Learmonth thought the industries should pay more than that but was more evenly distributed. It was then moved by Councillor Learmonth, seconded by Councillor Stone, that the water rate for the industries be 10c per 1,000 gallons.

In speaking to this motion Councillor Stone said that in view of the fact that the managers of the different industries had met with the water committee and had agreed on an 8c rate, no mention having been made of a 10c rate, he did not think it fair to set a 10c rate without again consulting the managers of the industries. If the industries had no agreement with the council, he would not object to an even higher rate, but under present conditions he could not support the motion.

The vote on the motion was taken and resulted as follows: Aye—Councillors Learmonth, Keats and Werts. Nay—Councillor Stone.

The question of charging a rate for water for garden use was also discussed. There was some difference of opinion as to whether there should be a straight charge per lot, or whether it should be a rate per lot and first lot and a reduction for each additional lot. The mayor thought all lots should be charged the same rate, whether a householder had one or more, he should pay the same for each lot.

It was then moved by Councillor Stone, seconded by Councillor Werts, that the rate for water for garden purposes be 50c per lot per season, the vote on this motion stood as follows: Aye—Councillors Keats and Learmonth. Nay—Councillors Stone and Werts.

Councillor Keats then moved that the rate be $2.00 per lot or part thereof, for the first lot for the season, and $1.00 per lot or part thereof, for each additional lot for the season. Councillor Stone seconded this motion.

Councillor Learmonth moved in amendment that the rate be $1.00 per lot or part thereof for the season. As there was no second to this motion, it was lost.

OUR SLOGAN: An Industrial Metropolis of Industrious People Who Pull Together.

REDCLIFF, ALBERTA. THURSDAY, APRIL 29, 1920.

Important Meeting of Chautauqua Guarantors
A meeting of all the guarantors for this year's Chautauqua will be held in the school next Monday evening, May 3rd, commencing at 7:30 sharp. All guarantors are requested to be present as plans for this season's work will be undertaken.

Local Footballers
Play Next Thursday
Redcliff footballers expect to get away to a good start in the season's series when they play the opening game next Thursday. This will be a league game and will be played in Medicine Hat against the Vets of that city.

Their second game will be here with the Independents on Thursday, May 13th. Owing to the weather the local team has had very little practice as yet, with more settled conditions it is expected to have regular practices in the future. Regular practice nights have been set for Tuesday and Thursday evenings of each week, and it is hoped all will turn out on these occasions.

There is one of the club's backs missing. Will whoever has it kindly turn it in to Donald McLaughlin as soon as possible.

Peace Bell is Now In School Belfry
The new Peace Bell secured for the school is now placed in the belfry and is being used to call the pupils to their studies. It rang for the first time this morning. The bell has a good tone and can be heard distinctly in almost any part of the town.

With the funds at their disposal the committee made a most satisfactory purchase and the bell meets with the general approval of all. In future the bell will be rung at 8:45 in the morning, at 1:15 in the afternoon and again at 5:30 to call the children to class. In the afternoon it will ring at 1:15 and again at 1:30.

Mention Pingle for Cabinet Vacancy

In discussing the appointment of a member to the cabinet, Mr. A. G. MacKay in the provincial government a report from Edmonton says: "Some discussion has gone on regarding the possibility of changing Capt. C. B. Pingle, the new speaker, over to a cabinet position, and it is thought that if the cabinet is to be increased to nine or ten members, Pingle's present position as speaker. The government would be reluctant to make this change, however, owing to the general good feeling with which Capt. Pingle has been received by the new speaker. It would be difficult to select another member whose ruling would be taken in such good spirit by all members in the house."

To Have Representative Now at Washington
Discussions are in progress between the United States and Great Britain which give substantial promise of ending in agreement by which Canada will be represented in Washington by a diplomatic agent of her rank.

Such representation is understood to be desired jointly by Canada and the United States and to be opposed by Great Britain. The conversations on the subject are described as being actuated by the wish to facilitate negotiations between Canada and the United States on questions in which Great Britain is interested only by the fact that Canada is one of the dominions.

So far as can be learned the only difficulty that has been encountered to date is in fixing the exact status and rank that the diplomat would have and in determining in advance so as to avoid any chances of friction concerning the relations that he would bear to the British ambassador in Washington. The prospects are that the Canadian representative would have wide freedom of action in matters directly affecting the Dominion. A decision on this point may be expected soon.

Japs are Massacred In Eastern Siberia
A news report from Washington says: "Japanese guards in the district of Nihonkai, eastern Siberia, are believed to have been annihilated and several hundred Japanese, including the Japanese consul there, massacred. According to an official statement issued by the Japanese foreign office and made public by the state department, the massacre was the work of the coast guard of the sea. As there was no second to this motion, it was lost."

LOCAL BRANCH G. W. V. A. NOTES.

The faithful old horse owned by Redcliff, Redcliff, commonly known as "Buffalo" left for the hay fields on Monday morning. He was a fine old horse, and although old, he was in good condition, and was a most enjoyable time to see.

The Overland Greenhouse here presents a wonderful sight these days and shows what can be done along the line of growing vegetables when properly managed. All present this greenhouse is a most excellent crop of tomatoes and the management is expected to be successful in disposing of the entire output. These goods are being shipped to all parts of Alberta and Saskatchewan. Manager Hatfield is making a great success of this industry, and we understand the company is contemplating building a large addition to this coming summer.

The Washington Avenue Boy Scouts from Medicine Hat came up to Redcliff last evening and put on a program in the Amuse-U theatre. Considering the short advertising that was given, the crowd in attendance was very good. The boys put on an interesting evening of songs, choruses, dialogues, etc. During evening Mr. Wade, district scout master, addressed the gathering. He made a strong plea for the reorganization of the scout movement in Redcliff, and asked the citizens to give it their hearty support.

J. Mitchell, of Calgary, director of Dominion Government Employment Bureau, was in town last week and on his way in connection with that department. To the Review Mr. Mitchell said he had met with most cordial treatment from the managers of the different plants here, all of which showed a willingness to assist him in securing employment for men now out of work. He said there was little or no work for men being laid off from work as yet, but he had more positions to fill than he had men. While here he secured a fund for several more and they are to be sent on at once.

The whist drive and dance given in Redcliff's hall last Friday evening under the auspices of the Sons of England, was a great success. The hall was well filled for the occasion and a most enjoyable evening was spent. During the first part of the evening progress was made in the whist and the money was very closely contested. The winners were Mr. Leach and H. Johnson. After cards there was dancing. For this both the floor and the music were excellent and as the evening wore on the music was left to be desired. During the evening a splendid lunch was served.

Annette Kellerman, the queen of the water, is to be shown at the Amuse-U theatre on Wednesday and Thursday nights. The performance of the famous swimmer are said to be wonderful and well worth going a long distance to see.

Important Changes In Labor Laws
Legislation has been drafted which is designed to impose severe penalties upon any employer who dismisses or in any way prejudices an employee, either because he belongs to a trade union or desires to become a member of such an organization. This statute has been under consideration by the labor department for some time, and the legislation drafted, of which notice has been given, will provide a penalty of $1,000 fine or six months' imprisonment in the case of any party adjudged guilty of such an offence.

LOCAL ODDFELLOWS Attend Divine Service

Local Odd Fellows celebrated their anniversary by attending the Presbyterian church at a body for the evening service last Sunday. There was a good turnout of the members and in the procession were a number of visiting brethren from Medicine Hat.

Rev. Shearer, the pastor, preached an appropriate sermon for the occasion. Using "Friendship" as his text he outlined the meaning of true friendship and referred to the friendship which existed between David and Jonathan as a basis for his remarks. The similarity of ideas and objects in his first three words characters together and was the primary reason for the rapid and lasting friendship which existed between them, and united them with bonds which could never be broken. In the selection of friends today the same ideals and objects should be kept in mind. He admonished his hearers to carry the same characteristics of this idealistic friendship into their relationship with God. "The friend that sticketh closer to a brother." We are proud, he said, to introduce our brethren and their acquaintances and to tell people about their good qualities, who met the same with our greatest of all friends, our heavenly Father.

During the evening the choir rendered a special music which added greatly to the improvements of the service.

SCHOOL NEWS.
We are all glad to welcome the smiling faces of Clara, Russell and John. Duffell in our new school. It seems as though all our old numbers are returning; they all have to come back to Redcliff just the same.

Mr. Klink, our principal, celebrated his birthday on Wednesday, April 21st, and all he got was the privilege of saying he was not a year older.

With the assistance of Mr. J. Arndinger and Mr. Cable, they managed to get the school bell up without mishap last Tuesday.

Owing to the wet weather the basketball and basketball game were at a standstill but are now in full swing again.

The school foot ball team played a game with the Redcliff Junior team last Monday evening which ended in a tie of one each.

Since the Easter holidays the library society has been at a standstill but a meeting will be held next Monday which will probably be the last time as the society will meet this time.

Owing to the late rains everything around the school yard is beginning to grow, even the swing posts are green.

John Kirkpatrick has returned to school after being absent for about two weeks in which he was working.

Thomas Blair got up his nerve and came to school with his long trousers again.

Hon. A.G. MacKay Passes Away Suddenly

Alonzo A. G. MacKay, M. A. K. C., M. P., minister of health and of municipal affairs in the Alberta government, died last Sunday after an illness of less than two weeks. Heart failure following an attack of pneumonia was the cause. The body will be taken east for interment at Owen Sound, Ont.

The funeral service in Edmonton was held at the First Presbyterian church on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mr. MacKay came to Alberta in 1912 after a checked political career in Ontario, where he was a member of the legislature of that province for nine years, representing Owen Sound. At the time he left to come west he was leader of the opposition in the Ontario house.

In 1912 he was elected to the Alberta legislature in the by-election at Athabasca and in 1913 he was elected to the legislature in the general election. He was taken into the Stewart government a minister of municipal affairs. In this portfolio was added that of "Health Affairs" and he received high credit in a most satisfactory manner.

Define Areas for The Normal School

The minister of education of Alberta announces that with the establishment of a normal school in the province it has become necessary to define very definitely the area from which school will draw its students, the new institution at Edmonton will, for the present, be housed in temporary quarters and the accommodation and arrangements will be subject to future limitation. The new Calgary school will not be ready for a year or so, in order to secure the maximum benefit from the three schools as established, it is necessary to lay down clearly defined boundaries for each.

All three centres, Edmonton, Camrose and Calgary, courses will be given for both first and second class teachers. In applying for admission to one of the normal schools applicants should indicate the location of their home.

The Calgary territory will include everything south of township 26, and extending to the west to the normal schools applicants should indicate the location of their home.

Reuben Anderson, who set out two years ago in an effort to reach the north Pole, is in the news. He is applying for admission to one of the normal schools. A message he received by the naval radio station at Cordova, Alaska, from Annapolis, Md.

In The New Northwest A Desirable Location is Found at Dunblane, Sask.

Favorable District Where Every Pros- pect Pleases

A REGION, IN WHICH ITS HABITANTS HAVE ABUNDANT FAITH.

Only a few years ago, some hardy men with ambition, seeking the home the Canadian government was offering for $10, were struck by the immensurable trails emanating from every direction, worn deep by the passage of uncounted thousands of buffalo and dating before the white man had commenced destruction of the species. Water, good, pure, wholesome water, must be available, and following the trails many springs were found, bubbling from the ground in apparently never failing supply. The green mantle of grass sprinkled with the native flowers of every conceivable color, reaching over the rolling surface as far as eye could see, indicated the richness of the soil. After the many miles of travel, with canopies of prickles, bitter tasting water, the springs of Dunblane appeared to be found. So it proved. For these men, still young after the hardships of pioneers, find themselves in a populous, prosperous, well ordered community, enjoying the fruits of their work. They are not now have to haul their produce six miles to market, but in Dunblane they find five well equipped elevators, stores, and excellent railway facilities. As a home to these farmers a welcome is extended. The excellent school, the social community, the hustling, enterprising business men extend their welcome. Water in abundance, and of the purest quality obtainable in any part of our country is here. A sample of Dunblane was recently sent to the provincial annual whose report is as follows:

R. A. Minely, Esq.,
Dunblane, Sask.

Yours of the 13th inst. duly received, also the sample of water mentioned. This water is clear, odorless, tasteless. It is a soft water as it contains only 10 1/2 grains per gallon of mineral matter. The mineral constituents consist of traces of sulphate of lime, sulphate of magnesia, and a trace of iron. It is an exceptionally good water and should be quite satisfactory for domestic purposes and live stock, and as a feed water for steam engines.

Yours sincerely,
G. M. CHARLTON,
Provincial Analyst, H. T. Clark, Dunblane, Sask.

DUNBLANE AND THE SURROUNDING COUNTRY

A Big Plant. John Brown & Wilson, contractors have been awarded the contract for building a plant at Dunblane, in the South district of Saskatchewan, for the lignite utilization board. The cost will be $200,000.00 and the work is to start immediately.

Cheese Rats on Hay from the East. The Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture has completed arrangements with the railway companies for special cheap freight rates on hay shipped from eastern points to any part of Saskatchewan. Under this plan the railway companies are quoting rates of $10 per ton from Montreal and points west to any place in Saskatchewan. To secure this tariff the hay must be purchased by the farmer through the municipality. The day also has been removed from hay loaded in the States to the States. The hay can be bought at about $3.50 per ton in Ontario and Quebec points.

Wholesale Chicken Stealing. These are the feathered kind, not those which appear in the comic papers. Twelve cases of chickens were seized by the Edmonton police a few days ago. They were discovered in a barn, and the thieves were taken to the police station. The chickens were found in a barn, and the thieves were taken to the police station.

James Reaney, M.P.P., of Edmonton, and General McDonald, manager of the Alberta Industrial Development Association, and Mayor Brown of Medicine Hat, are at present in the city of Regina. They are to address the public on the subject of industrial development.

For the wholesaler and distributing warehouses, Dunblane has many advantages. It is a city which only have a remarkably fertile surrounding country, but the location of Dunblane makes it an ideal distributing point for the north, east to the Saskatchewan River, east and west to the Saskatchewan country. Towards the west Dunblane is the present terminus of two lines of the Canadian National Railway, which, when completed, as they will be this spring, will bring Calgary, Edmonton and other cities of Alberta in close touch with this point. Towards the east, the Canadian National Railway will be expected, complete their line. To aging during the year, or the beginning of next, when this line is completed it will in all probability be the main transcontinental route, as it would be from 200 to 300 miles shorter than the present one through Saskatoon.

In these days when the merchant must needs consider the freight rates to be paid on his shipments; and when the wholesaler could deliver from Dunblane to the numerous towns and villages which are in easy reach of it at a much cheaper rate than at present be done from Saskatoon and the other large centers, it will be seen that the opening of a wholesale house here holds much possibility for the wholesaler and a look at the map should convince everyone of the advantages Dunblane has to offer.

At present real estate can be bought at a very reasonable figure and the farmer is being offered the opportunity to establish, while the opportunities are so good.

Any enquiries as to facilities, etc. will be cheerfully answered on addressing communications to

This map shows how one of the best agricultural districts of the west is situated.

The Salaries of Regina Teachers

The new schedule of salaries which teachers in Regina public schools will work starting September 1, 1920, was passed at a meeting of the board recently. The average increase granted in maximum and minimum salaries is $400 above the salary plus $300 bonus which teachers received during the year 1919-20. Grade teachers holding second-class certificates who during 1919-20 received a salary of $1,100, which included $300 bonus, will start September 1, 1920, being paid straight minimum of $1,200 and granted an increase of $100 to $1,300. Teachers with first-class certificates will be paid $1,400, and teachers with second-class certificates will be paid $1,200. The maximum increase of $100 until the maximum of $1,600 is reached. Increase in retroactive.

Minimum salary for principals of schools of 15 rooms and upwards is $2,000, and minimum at $3,200. The old schedule was minimum of $1,700 and maximum of $2,500, plus a $300 bonus.

Alberta Seed Grain. It is estimated that over $2,000,000 worth of seed grain will have to be transported by the Alberta government this year.

San Flowers. It is understood that a number of farmers both in Saskatchewan and Alberta this season intend to sow some sun flowers along to be marketed at the Strathely carried out been so successful. The old schedule was minimum of $1,700 and maximum of $2,500, plus a $300 bonus.

The Personal Side

PROMINENT WESTERN CHARACTERS—SOME INTERESTING ANECDOTES OF PEOPLE WE ALL KNOW.

LORD WOLSELEY AND HIS CONNECTION WITH THE WEST

Death of His Widow

Lady Wolseley, the wife of the late Viscount Wolseley, the distinguished British soldier, died in England last week.

We have been in the habit of regarding Lord Wolseley, who has been long dead, as a soldier almost of the olden times, and it comes as rather a surprise that his wife should have survived until this modern day and hour. There are few people living now who can remember the great Indian Mutiny, but Wolseley distinguished himself as a British officer at the relief of Lucknow.

He also took part in the Chinese War and was mentioned in despatches and decorated for his services.

The Trent Affair

In the early sixties when the war of secession was being waged in the United States, the American Government got into difficulties with Great Britain. Two emissaries of the Confederate States, named Mason and Slidell, took passage to Europe in the British steamer Trent. On the high seas they were stopped by an American ship of war, and the southern gentlemen taken as prisoners from beneath the protection of the British flag.

Britain was affronted. It was clearly a breach of international observance and a stern demand was made on Washington for immediate surrender of the two men. The American authorities were in a belligerent mood and did not at once comply. Preparations were made to vindicate the inviolability of the British ensign on the High Seas. Before the Federal authorities at Washington could almost get their breath, Canada was bristling with British bayonets, and every preparation was made to exact reparation.

Lord Wolseley, or as he was then simply Colonel Wolseley, was one of the special officers sent to Canada in connection with this affair. However, the authorities at Washington had sufficient trouble on their hands and Messrs. Mason and Slidell were surrendered with due apology.

The First Riel Rebellion

The following year Colonel Wolseley was on active service in connection with the Fenian invasion of Canada; and in 1870 was in command of an expedition sent from Eastern Canada to put down the rising of Louis Riel, who was flaunting the banners of his Provisional Government above the battions of Fort Garry.

This expedition travelled many hundreds of miles through the wilderness, and through lonely waterways to reach the Red River.

Old Timers

There are few people alive now who came west at that time. Col. McDonald, who was for many years Indian Agent for Treaty Four, and who died some years ago in Winnipeg, was one of the officers; Sir William Butler, to whose recommendations we owe the establishment of the North West Mounted Police, was on Lord Wolseley's staff; Col. Codd, who died in Victoria a few years ago also accompanied it; and Ex-Mayor Ramsay of Calgary and Sir Hugh John McDonald of Winnipeg, are still surviving members of the expedition, and there are doubtless some others in Winnipeg.

A Great Career

So successful was this expedition that Wolseley was appointed Assistant Adjutant General of the British war office the following year, and from that time on, until he was Commander-in-Chief, he was the moving spirit in working for reforms for the British army. He was for a time in command of the forces in the Zulu War and was Governor of Natal in the Transvaal. In 1882 the mutiny of the Egyptian soldiers under Arabi Pasha broke out and he was sent in command of the British forces to suppress it. After a short and brilliant campaign, which included the bombardment of Alexandria by the fleet, he inflicted a disastrous defeat on Arabi at Tel-el-kebir and suppressed the rising.

To Relieve Gordon

In 1884, in response to the insistent demands of the British people, he was sent in command of an expedition to relieve General Gordon, who was penned up in the city of Khartoum and surrounded by the tribes of the Mahdi. The expedition arrived too late, however; Khartoum had fallen and the devoted Gordon was dead.

Lord Wolseley, therefore, retreated down the Nile, and Khartoum remained in the hands of the wild Arabi tribes until they were dispersed many years later by General Kitchener at the famous battle of Omdurman.

Afterwards Lord Wolseley succeeded the Duke of Cambridge as Commander-in-Chief of the British forces, which position he held for five years, at the expiry of which period he resigned in favor of Lord Roberts.

In Western Canada

Western Canada has a close association with this great soldier. There are a number of people still alive who remember him in Winnipeg; and there is a thriving town in Saskatchewan which bears his name. There are also a number of young men in Canada who bear the name of Garnet Wolseley, bestowed upon them by their parents who had either admired or been associated with him during his Canadian career.

Lady Wolseley, who died the other day in England, had been married to her famous husband fifty-three years before her death.

GEORGE LANE OF THE BAR U

A few days ago George Lane, the big rancher of High River, Alberta, removed his high Stetson, which is the brand of the cattlemen from the Rio Grande to the Bow River and draped his long length along a seat in the Royal Alexandra Hotel at Winnipeg.

He discoursed of live stock conditions in the West. He said that there was more snow on the foothill ranges in Alberta, than had been seen for thirty-five years.

He stated that last year there was a great shortage of feed and it was a question either of giving the feed to the cattle, or taking them to the feed. Personally he followed the former plan. He bought thirty thousand dollars worth of cotton seed cake in Galesburg, Texas, and had to bring it to his ranch. He had to pay nearly $700.00 a car freight on this stuff. Some Alberta ranchers shipped as many as 2,000 heads of cattle to Texas or Kansas where they wintered very well.

Mr. Lane is one of the few old time cattlemen left in the country. He is a picturesque figure and with his long moustache; his horseman's walk; and the high crowned Stetson he always wears, might have stepped out of a moving picture of the old wild west.

He came to the Alberta ranges in the seventies and was for many years foreman on the old Bar U at Pekisko under the famous Fred Stinson.

He was one of the best of the range riders familiar with the handling of stock; a splendid rider; and an adept with the lariat and six-shooter of the old time phrymasons.

He has one of the finest ranches in all Canada where he makes a specialty of raising thoroughbred Percheron horses. He is said to have the largest herd of them in America, besides numerous other flocks and herds.

He made great friends with Prince Arthur of Connaught when he visited the west some years ago, and that young gentleman gave such a good account of him to his cousin, the Prince of Wales, that when the Heir Apparent recently visited Canada, he caused Mr. Lane to be searched out and presented to him.

It was Mr. Lane who dug up the famous Beddingford ranch for the Prince, and at present has it in charge.

George Lane is a notable figure in Western Canada and one of our best citizens.

W. J. O'CONNOR AND THE SHOE OF MAUD S.

W. J. O'Connor was a well known pioneer of Winnipeg. For many years he ran what was known as O'Connor's Hotel on Main Street just opposite Jerry Robinson's big store.

He kept the best whiskey in Winnipeg and his place was frequented by the male members of the elite of Winnipeg society, who were connoisseurs.

Afterwards he built the Corona Hotel, a very excellent little hostelry, which is at present managed by his widow.

Mr. O'Connor was a great horseman and always owned a racer or two. He handled the ribbons himself and was often to be seen at the masters of the driving club.

On one occasion he was visiting New York, and put up at the Murray Hill Hotel just back of the Belmont. A couple of confidence men who had got a line upon Mr. O'Connor's characteristics somehow or other, managed to scrape an introduction to him, and day after day discussed horse racing with him.

As a matter of fact, they didn't know a horse from a hole in the ground, but they got posted sufficiently to pass off as enthusiasts.

At last when they had got his confidence they considered the time ripe for a touch. So one of them casually enquired of Mr. O'Connor if he had ever heard of Maud S.

"Heard of Maud S.," said Mr. O'Connor, "why she was the greatest mare that ever lowered a record in America. I would give almost anything for a moment of her."

This furnished a cue to the villains, and the following morning they went down to a blacksmith's shop in Brooklyn and for a couple of nickels purchased a rusty old racing horse shoe—or boot as it is called in the parlance of the track. They scoured it and polished it and had a glass case made for it which cost them a couple of dollars. They then went to a friendly bar keeper and enlisted his services. He was to put this old shoe in its case in a portion of the bar. They also had an inscription that it was the shoe worn by Maud S. when she made some marvellous record or other, engraved upon it.

Needless to say, this was not exposed to the sagacious gaze of the frequenters of the bar. It was to be kept concealed until Mr. O'Connor was approaching.

The trap was baited and one of the men hid himself away down to the Murray Hill Hotel, and told Mr. O'Connor that he had located the shoe that Maud S. wore when she ran her most famous race. He said it was valued at many thousands of dollars but that its owner had fallen upon evil times and would part with it for a thousand. Mr. O'Connor was both excited and interested and he was taken down to the saloon and allowed to gaze upon the trophy. His native caution, however, asserted itself, and he told the men that he would decide in the morning. Before the morning came around he had made up his mind that he wanted that horse shoe and he was just about to pay over the money to the conspirators when one of the bar keepers of the Murray Hill Hotel called him aside and told him he was dealing with a pair of crooks.

The confidence men beat it inconspicuously and Mr. O'Connor saved his thousand dollars. He gave the man who warned him a handsome present.

Mr. O'Connor died a number of years ago. He was one of the most highly respected of the old timers of Winnipeg.

FATHER HUGONARD

Father Hugonard, who for so many years had charge of the Indian Industrial School at Lehart, in the Qu'Appelle Valley, was one of the greatest of the pioneer missionary priests. His heart was in his work and his influence with the Indians was astonishing.

During the rebellion of 1885 Star Blanket, the chief of the Flat Head Indians, decided to join the rebellious tribes on the banks of the Saskatchewan. Accordingly he camped in the Qu'Appelle Valley and his warriors made night hideous by engaging in their war dances. Father Hugonard was away when these preparations started, and when he arrived home, Star Blanket was about to lead his braves to the scene of hostilities.

Girding up his spurs Father Hugonard strode down the valley to the camp of Star Blanket. He was in his lodge with his wives when the priest entered. Father Hugonard pointed out to him the folly of his course and told him that he would probably end on the gallows. Star Blanket, however, was adamant. He said that now was the chance to drive the white man out of the country and he was going to take it. Whereupon the busy priest seized the Indian by the throat and before he had time to reach for his knife choked him into unconsciousness, and threw him amongst his wives, at the same time ordering them to take him back to the reserve.

Utterly humiliated Star Blanket returned home and his followers melted away. When news came to the Fill Hill Reserve of the hanging of a bunch of northern Indians at Battleford, after the rebellion had been suppressed, Star Blanket came to Father Hugonard and with tears in his eyes thanked him for preventing him from engaging in it.

Very shortly after the main line of the C.P.R. was completed, two very ignorant half breeds murdered an old homesteader near Qu'Appelle for the sake of a few dollars. There was conclusive evidence against the murderers and they were sentenced to death. Father Hugonard was in constant attendance on them whilst in prison, but at first he made little impression. They were ribald and callous, and the good priest was in despair. He urged upon them the necessity of confession and at last, two days before their execution, they agreed to tell the tale of the murder upon one condition, and one only; that was that Father Hugonard should hang them himself. The unfortunate priest was scandalized, but all his pleadings and exhortations couldn't move them.

At last a compromise was agreed upon. They were not only to unburden themselves to him as their confessor, but they were to make a formal confession for the benefit of the authorities; provided that Father Hugonard adjusted the noose around the neck of one of the brothers, and that Father Larche, the parish priest of Regina, should perform the same office for the other.

Their confessions were made and the brave priests carried out to the letter their part of the bargain.

It was with unaccustomed fingers that Father Hugonard adjusted the rope on the morning of the execution, and the condemned man whispered to him, "Pull it tight Father, I don't want it to slip when once I swing off."

Father Hugonard passed a long life at the little village in the Qu'Appelle Valley. His superiors talked at times of moving him to another scene of labor but his heart was in the beautiful valley of the Qu'Appelle, and he asked to be allowed to remain there.

Before he died about three years ago, he had been growing feeble for some time and it was seen that the end was not far off. Many of the older Indians, when they heard of his sickness came to his bedside and he spoke to them all in their native language with cheerfulness and content.

He passed away very quietly, sincerely mourned not only by the natives in the country, for whom he had done so much, but by all white people, Catholic or Protestant alike, with whom he had come in contact.

TWO NAMES

The other day an old timer of the Qu'Appelle region told the writer that the French Misses were very fond of the Qu'Appelle Valley around the Mission Lakes. They always spoke of it affectionately as La Belle Qu'Appelle.

The English-speaking half breeds, however, have quite a different name for it; they called it Cape Hall.

EXPORT OF SUGAR UNDER CONTROL

Housewives of Canada are urged to begin now laying in a supply of sugar for the coming season, buying a few pounds extra each week from now on, until they have sufficient set aside to cover their canning requirements.

Control over import and export licenses for sugar has been vested in the Canadian Trade Commission, which body will grant no export licenses while there is a demand in Canada for sugar. However, a demand here.

there is no likelihood of a reduction in prices, and it is pointed out that because of increased population, higher wages and prohibition, the consumption of sugar has increased 20 per cent. In regard to prohibition, it is stated that many people are taking to sweets as stimulants where they formerly consumed liquor.

It is pointed out also that Canadian refiners could secure at the present time an average of $1.39 per hundred more by exporting their sugar to the United States market than they can get in Canada, but despite this they will not be allowed to export while there is a demand here.

IN THE PRAIRIE PROVINCES OF CANADA

A SERIES OF ARTICLES DEALING WITH VARIOUS WESTERN QUESTIONS

THE EXCHANGE QUESTION

With characteristic American bluster the press of the United States has been declaring that the war has moved the money centre of the world from London to New York.

To a certain extent this was true. The Allies sent great quantities of money to the United States in return for supplies essential to carrying on the war, and the New York banks were bursting with the plethora of money. The first use of this power which was made by the magnates of Wall Street was to heavily discount European money, including the pound sterling of Great Britain, and the Canadian dollar. The Yankees pointed out with glee that they were in control of the situation.

They have not been allowed to jubilate for long, however. Great Britain, with her solid, stable methods of finance, her boundless resources, and her extraordinary recuperative power, has of late weeks steadily been reasserting her old position of dominance. Instead of coming as a suppliant to borrow some of the surplus millions which the United States accumulated during the years that she played the part of a neutral, the British Government has reduced by hundreds of millions her obligations in that country, and has announced that no further loans will in the near future be floated in the United States.

The depreciation of the pound sterling was supposed to be very rapid, but its rebound was more rapid still. The pound sterling in February of this year was discounted at 33%. Last week the New York discount rate was only 17%.

There never was a clearer answer to those short-sighted braggers who have been talking about the decadence of Britain and British commerce. It is a splendid example of her unimpaired initiative and the position which she occupies in the trade of the world.

A SUGAR TIP FOR HOUSEWIVES

A shortage of sugar is not remarkable at a time when production in almost every staple industry has fallen away below normal. For the years of the war the consumption of sugar was exceptionally heavy. The spread of prohibition has enormously increased the sale of candy of every description. The ordinary consumption of sugar has in no way abated and is only limited by the supply. As against the exhaustion of stocks and the increasing consumption the conditions in Europe have resulted in a shortage that has never been known before. There is no surplus in Java or the East. Cuba has been shipping every ton available. All the Louisiana sugar was sold before New Year. Brazil and Argentina have placed an embargo on its export. The recent removal of control from the price in Canada resulted in an immediate jump from 16 to 18 cents a pound retail. The Canadian Trade Commission has decided to grant no export licenses while there is a demand in Canada for sugar, and it is suggested that housekeepers lay in a store gradually, until they have sufficient for the preserving season. This does not mean buying all that is needed at once, but getting a few pounds at a time, more than actual immediate requirements. During 1919 the refineries, according to the government report, distributed 370,000 tons of sugar. The Canadian Trade Commission estimates that 450,000 tons will be needed this year, an increase of about 20 per cent. Last year there was an average monthly distribution of about 30,000 tons and there should, this year, be an average of about 36,000 tons. The Commission hopes to be able to give notice when any surplus accumulates so as to enable the consuming public to keep in advance of their needs. The Commission reports that in January and February only 26,700 and 24,700 tons were distributed, making a shortage of 21,000 tons. This should be made up before the first of May. As there is a world shortage of 25 per cent, no reduction in price is to be expected, but the Commission is hopeful that there will not be any considerable advance as the Canadian refineries appear to have secured an ample supply of raw material for the first half of this year.

A WHEAT SHORTAGE

There is no doubt whatever, that the present year may probably see wheat at its highest level.

There are indications that the world shortage is becoming acute, and a few days ago the American Trade Commissioner in London reported that there was a world-wide increase in demand; and that bread was selling in England at what is considered the highest price the working man would tolerate without great distress.

In the years before the war, the wheat production of Russia was one of the chief factors in regulating the demand, the supply and the price.

With Russia in its present condition of chaos, there is little to be expected from it in the way of production, and Europe is therefore turning to Canada, the United States, Australia, India and the Argentine.

The utmost amount of wheat that may be expected from Russia for the season of 1920 will be seventy millions of bushels but railway equipment in that country is not sufficient to move any large quantity, and it will likely fall much short of that figure. There is, therefore, little doubt that even with an excellent crop this year there will be a considerable world shortage.

KILLED BY A MANIAC IN CHURCH

Dr. James A. Markoe, a well-known surgeon, was shot and instantly killed in New York while taking up the offering at the morning service in the fashionable St. George's Protestant Episcopal church at 18th Street and Stuyvesant place in the old aristocratic district of New York.

His assailant was captured after a short chase by a group of parishioners headed by William F. Morgan, president of the Merchants Association of New York; George E. Brewer and J. Morgan Jones. At the East 22nd Street police station the prisoner gave his name first as Thomas W. Shelley and later as Thomas W. Simpkin. The police said he told them he has escaped recently from the Eastern State hospital for the insane at Williamsburg, Va. The man was born in London, England, and said he had spent some time in Canada before coming to the United States.

Hay for Manitoba

It is understood that the Deputy Minister of Agriculture for the Dominion has advised the Manitoba authorities that timothy hay can be shipped to Manitoba and laid down at any point there for $42.50 a ton. The provincial government are taking orders from farmers who desire spring feed of this class.

A Winnipeg Bigamist

OSCAR B. SILEY, under arrest in Winnipeg, charged with bigamy, Don Dan, who married him last summer, said the married man stated that he was married to another woman in Edmonton in 1911.

MARRIAGE UP-TO-DATE

France is certainly the country of innovations.

Just the other day there was a very serious debate in the Chamber of Deputies about the amount of the taxes to be levied upon bachelors. It was set at a good round figure and a tax was also imposed upon unproductive married people.

Now comes the news that the X-rays are to be used for the purpose of eugenics. They are said to have attained such a perfection that an X-ray examination of a person's breathing gives an absolutely accurate picture of that person's character.

It is asserted that many would-be brides and bridegrooms have already submitted to X-ray examinations of this nature before taking out the marriage licenses in order to make sure that they are fitted for their prospective partners.

This, perhaps, will do away with some of the lottery that is popularly supposed to go with marriage.

The French people are very practical in these things anyway.

AGRICULTURAL AND PASTORAL

A Sex Discoverer

A new instrument for the discovery of sex in eggs was demonstrated at a meeting of the Winnipeg Poultry Association recently. This instrument is called a sexometer and is electrical in its principle. The instrument is supposed to show whether or not the egg is fertile and the sex of the chicken, which will be produced from it.

Edmonton Feed Situation

The city council of Edmonton is making vigorous attempts to ascertain if it has power to deal with profiteers who have been making great use of money out of the scarcity of feed. At a recent meeting of a special committee the names of three local firms were mentioned who were said to be overcharging for hay. The prices secured by them being stated to range from $85.00 to $120.00 per ton. It was stated at the meeting that one stock man had offered $100.00 per ton for all the hay he could lay his hands on.

Assisting the Stock Men

During the winter the Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture has handled no less than eleven thousand two hundred and fifty-four tons of hay and haying outfits, under the free transportation agreement in efforts to assist the farmers in the dried out portions of the province.

Tough Feed

It is stated that the shortage of feed in Alberta has been so acute that people have had recourse to feeding anything they could find and that in many cases even the excelsior in which furniture has been packed was given to cattle. In one or two cases 'sawdust' was also given the unfortunate animals with the result that what cattle are left alive in certain districts appear to be suffering from severe indigestion.

A Notable Stallion

A Craigie Masterpiece, a wonderful Clydesdale horse, has been imported by the government of Alberta for improving the standard of draught horses in that province. It is claimed that he is the best Clydesdale that ever crossed the Atlantic. Norman Weir, a well known Alberta breeder, was commissioned by the Hon. Duncan Marshall to make the purchase.

Desire a Percheron

Now that the province of Alberta has got a very good Clydesdale stallion the Percheron men are agitating for a horse of similar quality of their favorite breed. It was understood that S. G. Carlyle, the live stock commissioner of the province, has been instructed to go to the United States and see if a suitable animal can be found there. There are many people who believe that Percherons are more suitable for Western Canada than any other breed. They are said to be not so subject to sickness as the Clydes.

Canadian Cattle

There were 100,635 cattle classed as good to choice steers and weighing 1,200 pounds and over, marketed in Canada last year. It is interesting to note from what provinces these cattle came and how Western Canada compared with Eastern Canada. Alberta marketed 34,161 head of them, Saskatchewan 20,252 head, Manitoba 8,845 head, Ontario 36,232 head, and Quebec 1,145 head. Over half of them came from Alberta and Saskatchewan, although Ontario led by a slight margin over any one province.

Typical Irish Verdict Against British Premier

High Officials of the Crown
Charged with Murdering
Mayor of Cork.

Charges of wilful murder against Premier Lloyd George were brought in the verdict of the jury in the inquest into the death of Mayor Mac Curtain of this city, assassinated last month, which was rendered recently. The verdict also charges Viscount French, Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland; Lord MacPherson, former chief secretary, and several police inspectors with murder.

That part of the verdict laying the crime to the hands of the police caused no surprise but few thought the jury would go so far as to charge the premier, Viscount French and Mr. MacPherson with the murder, even though the charge is likely to mean more than an expression of sentiment against these officials. It is different, however, with the police officers who in the usual course would be expected to be placed under arrest immediately. The verdict is as far as accusing constabulary with the murder was a foregone conclusion. It is the verdict of the Sinn Feiners believed two weeks ago that the verdict would simply charge the police as a body without mentioning names. It is doubtless influenced by Viscount French and Sir John Taylor, under-secretary for Ireland, to ignore summonses to appear as witnesses.

To Send Live Sock to Chicago

At a recent meeting held in Regina the Saskatchewan Live Stock Board considered projects to send pure bred stock from the province to the International Live Stock Show held in Chicago in the fall. One of the prominent breeders of the province had intimated their desire to exhibit at the live American show. It is understood that arrangements may also be made for the Saskatchewan cattle breeders to show their stock afterwards at the Toronto Royal Exhibition before returning home.

A Big Alberta Ranch

The Knight-Watson Ranching Co., with headquarters at Lethbridge, Alberta, is one of the largest and most widely known cattle companies of Western Canada. Raymond Knight and J. D. Watson comprise the company; the former resident manager and the latter superintending its great marketing and purchasing interests. Mr. Knight is a son of Jesse Knight of Provo, Utah, known prominently in mining and live stock circles, and as the founder of the Knight Sugar Co. ago this company acquired a tract of 350,000 acres of land in Alberta for the development of the best sugar business, and Raymond Knight was in charge. It did not prove practical, however, and the land was turned in to wheat and grazing. Another tract of 150,000 acres which the Knight-Watson Company controls, gives them a total acreage of a half million. They have been wintering 10,000 cattle, 45,000 sheep and 1,000 horses, some of the cattle being at present located in Texas. Last fall the company shipped 22,000 cattle to Chicago, while their total shipments divided between Chicago, St. Paul, Winnipeg and Toronto amount to about 48,000 head, all of which originated in Alberta and Montana. These figures refer in a brief way the extent of their operations.—Nor West Farmer.

Leaving His Chair

Professor Tisdale, who has been Professor of Animal Husbandry in the University of Saskatchewan, has resigned his position to accept the place of Assistant Manager of the Canadian Wool Growers, with headquarters at Toronto.

Mange Area

The Cattlemen's Protective Association of Alberta reports that the mange area has been very considerably reduced this year.
